Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.

Dear Sir:

Noting your suggestion relative to improvement of Ocean Avenue, I thoroughly agree with you that owing to its wretched condition improvement would be desirable, but permit me to remind you of the fact that a few months ago our City Trustees made arrangements to have the street paved according to plans prepared by competent surveyors and engineers, and deemed by them to be the only satisfactory way to pave this street. But the proposition was turned down by the property owners. If they do not want good streets, why agitate the matter? L. S SLEVIN

Why Do the majority of Carmel housewives send their soiled clothes and linen to the Del Monte Laundry

There is much complaint about persons who make a practice of dumping garbage on the beach. No excuse for this. The city has a garbage collector. Why litter up our splendid white beach—one of the city's principle assets.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Hill's mother, who have been here several months, are leaving shortly for their home in England.

Amongst the holiday visitors who have returned to their homes are Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Williamson, Mrs. Caroline Hollis and daughters, Mrs. Mary Falkner and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bowen.

January Economy Sales now on at Holman's, Pac. Grove.

The federal census work still goes on here. Miss McChesney is doing the enumerating in Carmel proper, while Miss Van Brower has been assigned a big section of outside territory—down the Coast and up the Carmel Valley.

Trumbull White of New York writer, and former editor of Everybody's Magazine, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. F. A. Steel, and sister, Miss Jessie White, here.

Will You Get In On It ?

1920 IS GOING to be Carmel's banner year in the erection of new structures. If you have a piece of unimproved property, put a house on it. Make it earn money. Don't wait for materials and labor to come down; they are really going up. So, build now is my advice.

Burlap Bag His Only Garment

POSTER BASED ON ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN AT ERIVAN, ARMENIA, BY DR. M. S. LITTLEFIELD.

He is only one of 250,000 helpless child victims of Turkish cruelty and oppression in Western Asia. Clad just as he stands in the picture this forlorn little fellow, with hunger-stricken cheeks, hopeless mouth and frail, starved body, was found wandering in the streets of Igdir, Armenia, by Dr. Milton S. Littlefield of the Near East Relief. He was taken to a Near East Relief orphanage, where it was found that his only earthly possession was the single garment in which he stood—a worn, patched blanket made from a burlap sack.

"I saw this ragged little fellow on one of the busiest business streets of Erivan, not far from the orphanage," said Dr. Littlefield. "He was wandering aimlessly about and no one was paying the slightest attention to him. I did not pose him; the picture shows just the way he stood when I backed him up against a nearby wall."

The photograph is the basis of a striking poster now being distributed by Near East Relief.

Bids on Three Streets Asked For

Applause greeted the action of the city Board of Trustees at their meeting on Tuesday evening when they over-ruled all protests and ordered the publication of notices calling for bids for the improvement of Dolores, Casanova and Carmelo streets.

No action was taken on the proposed improvement of 9th, 11th, and 13th avenues, as the City Engineer has not yet filed the necessary data.

Trustee Arne reported the purchasee of a new hose cart, and was instructed to get quotations on 150 feet of single jacketed hose.

Two ordinances, one requiring indemnity and accident bonds of common carriers, the other providing bonds for the restoration of torn up streets, were passed to print.

Trustee Arne was appointed to consult with the City Attorney concerning the preparation of an anti-gambling ordinance.

CHRISTMAS ACTS AS TONIC

Happy and Exhilarating Mental Spirit Has Good Effect on People, Declare Medical Observers.

Close observers in the ranks of the medical profession have noted one very interesting fact concerning the Christmas season—that it generally has a good tonic effect upon their patients. In explanation of this the London Lancet says that since Christmas has come to be regarded as a time for good cheer, a universal feeling of contentment and happiness is engendered at this time of joyousness, routine is for a while relieved, a certain freshness is given to the daily round, differences of opinion are sunk, and a charitable spirit prevails. Is it, by the way, hoping for too much that the season of good fellowship should leave some lasting effect upon the manners and methods of all?

It may not be easy to trace exactly why this sense of exhilaration and well-being comes with the advent of Christmas, for the psychological factors concerned are not simple. But the main point is that the mental state does everybody good, and the annual festivity is just as excellent an institution as the prescription of the physician which gives tone and vigor to the struggle in life's race. There is no need nowadays, thanks to the good sense of the people and the counsels of their medical advisers, to moralize about the evils of a stupid indulgence in food, alcohol and tobacco on a festive occasion such as the present. Practically everybody realizes the great physiological advantages of being wise on a merry occasion and the disadvantages of being a fool.

Many more persons than formerly feel where use ends and abuse begins, and they act sensibly accordingly; and so far from it being a crime to make the season festive by enjoying, on a little extended scale perhaps, the creature comforts of life, some decided good is done to both the mental and physical health of the individual.

The festive season may, therefore, be welcomed which brings cheer to thousands, which induces the generous and charitable to brace the mental and physical functions of the community at large, giving it the opportunity of relinquishing its business and its worries for a time, to start again refreshed and ready for "the trivial round, the common task." The prescription "A Merry Christmas" is sound so long as the "signature" of good sense is observed.

JUDGES INVOKE U. S. PLAN TO HELP ACCUSED

Guilty Will Have Chance to Invest Money Instead of Paying Fines

Superior Court and Police Judges of San Francisco have adopted the United States Government Thrift and War Savings Stamps as an aid in promoting a better citizenship among those persons coming before them daily accused of misdemeanor transgressions of the law. "Upon the thesis that a thrifty man is a better citizen and that many of our economic ills and much of our present day social unrest are due directly to thriftlessness," Judge T. I. Fitzpatrick, presiding judge of the Police Court, wrote, "I shall be glad to assist in a movement in this direction, keeping in mind, however, at all times, the provisions of the charter of the city and county."

Instead of fining persons guilty of minor infractions of the law and where a judge has it in his discretion to fine or free the defendant, the jurists propose to give the accused a chance to help himself and his government and cultivate the habit of saving by purchasing the War Savings Stamps. In cases of marital infelicity, too, where it is now the practice to fine or lecture the persons before the court, the defendants will will be given an alternative of investment in Government securities. One condition will always be attached—that the defendant keep the securities until maturity.

THE TWO VILLAGES.

OVER the river, on the hill,
Lieth a village; white and still.
All around it the forest trees
Shiver and whisper in the breeze;
Over it sailing shadows go
Of soaring hawk and screaming crow,
And mountain grasses, low and sweet,
Grow in the middle of every street.

OVER the river, under the hill,
Another village lieth still.
There I see in the cloudy night
Twinkling stars of household light,
Fires that gleam from the smithy's door,
Mists that curl on the river shore,
And in the roads no grasses grow
For the wheels that hasten to and fro.

IN that village on the hill
Never a sound of smithy or mill.
The houses are thatched with grass and flowers;
Never a clock to tell the hours;
The marble doors are always shut;
You cannot enter in hall or hut;
All the villagers lie asleep;
Never a grain to sow or reap;
Never in dreams to moan and sigh;
Silent and idle and low they lie.

IN that village under the hill,
When the night is starry and still,
Many a weary soul in prayer
Looks to the other village there,
And, weeping and sighing, longs to go
Up to that home from this below;
Longs to sleep in the forest wild,
Whither have vanished wife and child,
And heareth, praying, this answer fall:
"Patience! That village shall hold ye all."

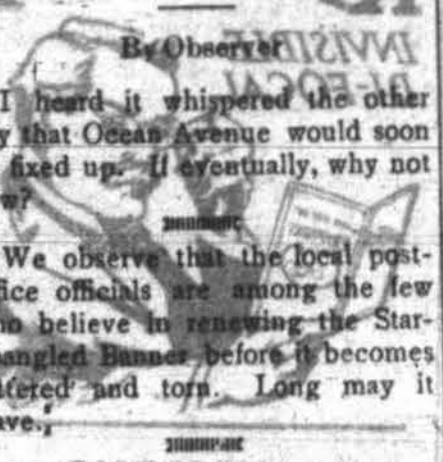
Boosts and Knocks



By Observer

I heard it whispered the other day that Ocean Avenue would soon be fixed up. If eventually, why not now?

We observe that the local postoffice officials are among the few who believe in renewing the Star-Spangled Banner before it becomes tattered and torn. Long may it wave.

Some Christmas tree that Herbert Hand fixed up opposite Pine Inn. Not every town can boast a natural Christmas tree growing in the center of its main street. Some trimmings, too, Herbie.

Headline in S. F. Chronicle says: "St. Patrick's Church Will Sing Midnight Mass." Wonder if choir went on strike. I'm not surprised that a church can sing—even a kettle has that much ability.

We have heard of a certain man in this town who takes pride in knocking every project for improvement; glad he does not live on our side of town. Seems like some folks would have more to do than to go around attempting to sequre signatures to "knocking" petitions.

Is this man a pessimist or an optimist? Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, Wm. H. Hamby says: "A country town is a wierd mixture of credulity and distrust, of sympathy for physical sickness and cruelty for mental suffering; of patriotism and tax dodging, of model citizens and character assassins; of religion and obscenity."

Barnum was right. "There is one born every minute," judging by the number of deaths resulting from drinking wood alcohol. No trouble like that in Carmel—not yet. But wait until that young man in town starts manufacturing liquor from that "wonderful perscription he says he has. We will await developments with interest, and, in the meantime, proceed to organize a quartet for funeral purposes.

Baseball was a feature of Carmel outdoor sports on New Year Day. Two teams of local business men struggled for supremacy on the old golf grounds. Oh, boy! You should have seen Bob Leidig sliding on his face in an endeavor to catch a foul ball. He almost got it, too—with his mouth. Leo Narvaez and Fred Leidig had a lot of curves on the ball, but the curves were more noticeable after the batter had hit the ball. A feature of the game was the absence of gloves. A long recess was taken while the ball was dug out of a gopher hole. I don't know who won; I left when one side had passed the 20 mark.
